

Stopping Fuchsias

The first stopping should be done when a rooted cutting has about three pairs for leaves. Thereafter, whenever a stem arising from an axil bud has formed three pairs of leaves, you should nip out the top so that two pairs of leaves are left. Stopping the growing tip causes the axil bud to send out new shoots.

